Ready to Work is one of several of Alabama's community college free training programs that prepares adults with the skills they need to get hired. The focus of RTW is to make sure future workers have the basic, entry-level skills they need to succeed in working at most of Alabama's businesses and industries.

If you're looking for work in Alabama, Ready to Work is a great first step. RTW is currently offered online through six self-paced modules.
